

Willis Bite Gauge

Description

Willis Bite Gauge. With an integrated scale. Used to measure vertical dimension, during patient assessment and the jaw relationship stage in denture construction. Helps the operator to tell if the edentulous patient's mouth is over-closing or not closing enough during the stage of bite registration. Autoclavable. Manufactured from high grade surgical stainless steel.